

YOU'RE ABOUT TO CRACK THE CODE

TO A SAFE, SECURE AND TRUSTED RETIREMENT VILLAGE.

The new standards for Australian retirement communities.

Australian retirees.

Here's some great news to help you find your ideal retirement village, especially with hundreds of options, services, facilities and budgets to choose from.

The Retirement Living Code of Conduct is a commitment to high standards and exceeding the expectations of residents. When you're looking for a village you can really trust just ask, "Are you a code village?", or keep an eye out for the official Retirement Living Code of Conduct seal.

Hundreds of Australia's retirement villages have already signed up, agreeing to a set of standards that ensures every retirement community resident's experience is a good one. You'll find the Code signatory village nearest you just by visiting:

awisemove.com.au/code-of-conduct.

The Code locks villages into helping your retirement by:

1. Promoting and protecting the interests of residents, current and future
2. Consistently high standards from moving into, living in and leaving
3. Clarity and transparency, particularly with sales contracts and obligations
4. Generating leadership that improves industry standards
5. Assuring diversity and choice in retirement villages... with complete trust.

Since the Code's launch in 2020, over 600 retirement villages have committed their communities to a set of standards, whereby every village operator is fully accountable to residents, which enhances community spirits.

... "knowing that they have committed to the Retirement Living Code of Conduct. ... they care about my well-being whilst living here"...

Robyn, Resident of Applewood Retirement Village
